DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER

Carlos Carpizo

Co-Founder
Kosmos

Carlos Carpizo is a recovering technology executive selected to the 2016, 2017 and 2018 top 100 most influential and notable Hispanic Professionals in the Information Technology Industry by the Hispanic IT Executive Council www.hitecglobal.org. Born in Mexico and now based in Texas, Carlos co-founded Kosmos, a hybrid for-profit and nonprofit venture dedicated to workforce development in North America, leveraging the intersection of mindfulness, art, and technology. He authored At Risk of Greatness (New Degree Press, December 2020), exploring how 21st-century skills can empower the next generation to build a human-centric future—serving as the foundation for his venture. He also developed the "8 Cs to Outsmart AI," a framework designed to future-proof human potential in a world of automation.

With over 25 years of leadership experience, Carlos has held executive roles at Fortune 500 companies such as Ericsson and Xerox and served as president of a mid-market corporation. He holds a degree from Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey and an MBA from the SMU-Cox School of Business. He is also a founding member of the Dallas chapter of the Private Directors Association. He's fluent in Spanish, English and French and speaks Italian. Carlos is passionate about building a more integrated, human-centric, and competitive North American workforce. Today, he focuses on speaking, impact investing, and shaping a future where the coevolution of humans and artificial intelligence fosters greater consciousness and purpose-driven innovation.
